To whom it may concern,

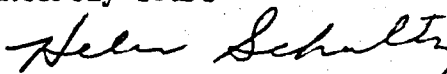

I find it so hard to believe my son, P.F. Lazor, is in jail. It seems to me that all the evidence should prove he acted in self defense.

P.F. was never a violent person. He was always easy to get along with. He was never in any trouble and has no prior record of any kind.

My son is a gentle person, who writes poetry, music and is very artistic. He has always formed friendships easily and has a great love for people.

I believe that a great injustice has been done in this case and hope someone will see that P.F. should not be spending any time being punished for defending his own life.

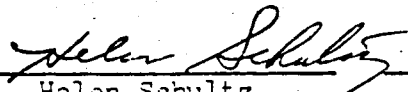

Sincerely Yours

Helen Schultz
