To whom it may concern:

I am shocked at the conviction of my friend of three years, P.F. Lazor, and within that time span I've grown to know P.F. in a deep sense, because of his inner knowing of himself and the respect for others. This has been expressed through his involvement with people in many aspects of his life; there's our church, his music and the many business ventures which consumes P.F.'s time. Therefore when a person who is productive in his community and respected by many, there is no room for negative thoughts, so in view of the past event, I can only say that the action taken was purely survival and nothing else!

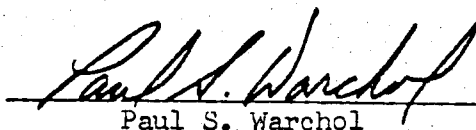

I feel that convicting and imposing P.F. to a negative and counterproductive environment would surely breed much anger toward our present justice system.

Sincerely

Paul S. Warchol
