

EX-CELEBRITY SEEKS
"REAL-PEOPLE"
FRIEND/POSSIBLE COMPANION

Am white, loyal, honest, caring

Hello potential friend,

In spite of a colorful background in the music and feature film industries as well as an unusually adventuresome life before coming to prison, I'm just a down-to-earth country boy looking for a good friend out there.

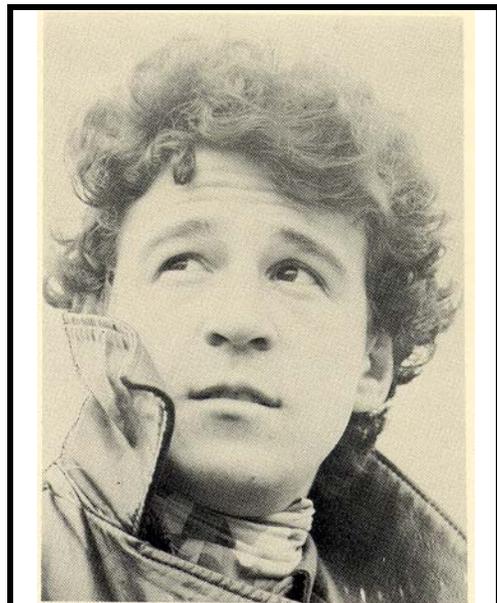

When I was in my 20s, I shot an intruder who violently broke into my home and I have been in prison ever since. I was never involved in any crime in my life. Evidence and character references literally by the hundreds are available on request. But, I'm much more interested in the present and sharing that with someone of compatible interests, as well as future aspirations and possibilities. In spite of over 20 years locked away, I'm still very achievement-and-purpose-oriented and filled with "life" (supercharged!). 😊

I'm a gentleman, loyal, romantic, very fit and youthful. Among my many loves of life are beautiful music and poetry (which I also write), flying, skydiving, motorcycling, water-skiing, inventing, travel, and nature. I hope to do these things again when I'm free.

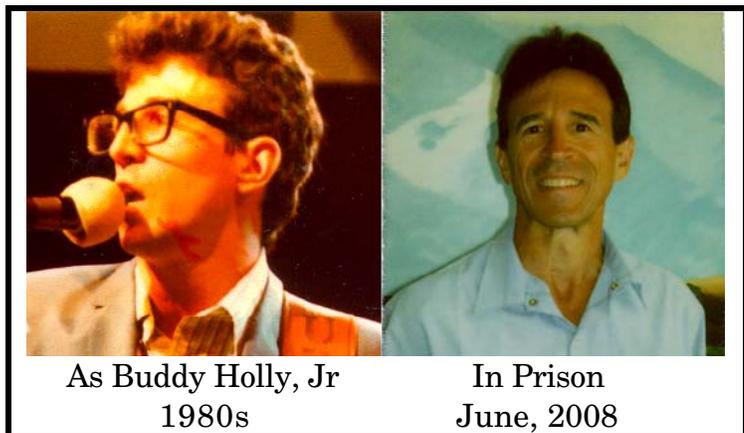

My parole date was 12 years ago. The courts are finally demanding that the state show cause why I'm still imprisoned. Release is likely but not guaranteed, due to politics/prison guards' union agenda, and because it will result in my exoneration.

Well, let's get this started and see what happens. What are you waiting for?
