

I WANT TO BE

6-6-14 (2)
(#59)

REFRAIN: I want to be your light in the darkness;
I want to be for you, everything you need.
I want to be your stable anchor
— through this madness
For you, I want to be, I want to be.

1. Life is much too short to abort
real love that comes our way.
In times so trying more men are dying
than living every day.
More may be born, but life's essence is torn away, and never found again
without love, they might be better off, without life.

[REPEAT REFRAIN]

2. Did you catch the meaning in this gift of majesty and mystery ?
Have you yet experienced the one thing greater than being free ?
For freedom without love
is an empty shell of its own prison cell giving love to you, is all I want to do, and be.

BRIDGE: What they don't know about love
they may never learn.
Though their souls sense something's missing,
and how their aching hearts yearn.
Count us blessed, through the hardest tests,
we got the best — (we found each other)
and love, the great treasure chest
no one can buy and none can earn.

[REPEAT REFRAIN]

3. How can they live — how can they think they have life without this kind of love ?
They've never tasted from this well
and lived to tell — of someone like you;
of love that conquers sorrow,
turns shattered yesterdays into a hopeful tomorrow,
there isn't anything the healing balm of love can't renew.

[INSTRUMENTAL]
[REPEAT REFRAIN]

Written: June 6, 2014 (2)

[END]